EASTER MESSAGE

Jesus said "I am the Resurrection and the life, he that believeth in me though he were dead yet shall live."

Here is one of the great declarations of the Divine Son of God to struggling humanity. If you will notice there are no ifs or ands, no doubts, no quibbling, no conditional clauses, no conditional dependency on human aid. It is rather a bold statement: I am the Resurrection. I am the Life. I am the resurrection for men in the Dark Ages, for men in the Reformation period, I am the resurrection for a pagan world. I am the resurrection and the life for an enlightened modern world gone pagan through a brutal, inhuman and fiendish war at this very hour.

We are off the beam, as we say in airplane vernacular, and through the centuries have been floundering around seeking a safe landing for time and eternity. But instead of being God directed we have been man directed and have fallen into the enemy territory, and even today with all our boasted civilization, being educated to the nth degree we are circling around and do not know where to land: We are in a terrible fog of selfishness, of greed for the wealth and power and have fallen into a regular slough of moral corruption out of which no power can lift us except the arm of a compassionate loving Christ. Without Christ there can be no hope of escape. Without Christ there cannot be any spiritual life nor any resurretion. He says "I am the Way, the truth and the Life". Let us all acknowledge that we have lost our way, that our words and promises cannot be trusted, and that we are muddled, confused and bordering on moral and spiritual insanity, and in penitence acknewledge our individual national and international sins, and get down on our knees in sackcloth and askes ask for forgiveness. Then we shall approach this Easter season in a new light, a new heart, a new hope and a positive assurance that we too shall live. Let me repeat that without Christ there is no salvation, no hope, no life and no resurrection. St. Paul has said "If there be no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen; and if Christ be not raised, your faith is vain and ye are yet in your sins." Then comes this cheering word from that great man of God "But now is Christ risen from the dead and become the first fruits of them that slept."

Divine assurance is given to all peoples of all time in these words of Christ "Because I live ye shall live also". Let us not entirely crush the bleeding hearts of millions of mothers whose boys will never come back from this terrible war, by telling them there is no resurrection and on hope of them ever meeting again. You will send them into unspeakable dispair, darkness and insanity. Rather let us sing to them that great Easter hymn by Charles Wesley "Christ the Lord is risen today, Alleluia", Sons of men and angels say, Alleluia, or with Whittier "Who hath not learned in hours of faith
The truth to flesh and sense unknown,
That life is lord of death,
And love can never lose its own,

Of with Tennyson "For though from out our bourne of time and place
The flood may bear me far;
I hope to see my pilot face to face,
When I have crossed the bar."

Or with Robert Browning as he sings "Grow old with me for the best is yet to be."

A joyous, victorious and blessed Easter to all of you.

DAVID RALSTON, Pastor.

PENROSE STORE PROSPEROUS FOR 33 YEARS, SOLD

Mr. and Mrs. James Penrose who have conducted a grocery business in this city since February, 1912, have sold their business. The new owners, who will take over stock, fixtures and good will on April 2nd, are Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Melton of Pittsburg, California.

The Penroses began business on Pine Street between Broad and Commercial 33 years ago, in a building that has long since given way to modern structures. It was at first a vegetable shop but was quickly expanded to sell groceries and dairy products. In 1922 they moved to the present store, which they own, at 303 Broad Street.

Penrose has several hundred acres of mine and farm land and expects to be fully occupied following his retirement from the grocery business.

For many of the years in which they were engaged in business, their sons, Howard and Lloyd Penrose assisted their parents.

Probably no firm in Nevada City has built up a greater reservoir of good will than have Mr. and Mrs. Penrose.

The new owners will conduct the business in the same premises. Both have had experience in the grocery business. Mrs. Melton has been manager of two first class grocery stores and brings to the business here her expert knowledge and experience.

In another column, Mr. and Mrs. Penrose thank their old friends and patrons for the success attained in 33 years of service to this community.

ROTARY SPONSOR DRIVE TO CLOTHE WAR DESTITUTE

The Nevada City Rotary Club will sponsor the drive for used clothing which opens April 1st as a measure of relief for destitute families in Europe.

According to information regarding garments to be collected, all underwear and cotton garments should be washed, not ironed, before being given to those who do the collecting. Most urgently needed are infants clothing, especially knitted garments, men's and boy's overcoats, suits, jackets, shirts, all types of work clothing, sweaters and knitted gloves.

For women cloaks, jackets, sweaters, shawls, underwear, dresses and knitted headwear.

For household use there are needed blankets, sheets, pillow cases, quilts and afghans.

Shoes of all kinds are wanted for men, women and children. Shoes with open toes, open backs or high heels are unacceptable.

Nevada City's school children will do most of the collecting and handle most of the donations. The class of the elementary school which brings in the greatest number of pounds will be given a party by the Rotary Club.

NOTED HISTORIAN TO MEET WITH HISTORICAL BODY

Stevens states that this is an unusual opportunity for members to obtain information on the work of obtaining and assembling historical data. He says that preliminary work must consist of collecting letters, manuscripts, records, archives and museum objects, in fact, anything illustrative of the life, conditions and activities of the early settlers in Nevada County.

CAMP BEALE IS NOW INDUCTION CENTER

CAMP BEALE, March 29—Brigadier General Oscar B. Abbott, Beale commander, announces that all northern California men called into the service after April 1 will be inducted here at a new Armed Forces Induction Station. The Beale station will consolidate and replace those that have been in operation at Sacramento and San Francisco since California draft machinery was first set up.

Draftees from all counties north of Monterey are affected by the change. Southern Californians will be inducted at Fort MacArthur.

Following induction, men will be assigned to either the army or navy, according to the current ratio for each branch of the service. Those assigned to the army will be transferred immediately to the reception center, also located here. Men to fill navy quotas will be sent from here to Sacramento for assignment.

"Spot check" physicals will be given men inducted here, if they have received their pre-induction physicals during the previous 90 days. But if more than that time has elapsed since their pre-induction examination, another complete checkup is scheduled. Both the army and navy will maintain a medical staff here for the inductees.

First inductees are scheduled to arrive here Monday, April 2 and approximately 1300 men are expected to be inducted by April 10.

EMPIRE STAR IN 1944 OPERATIONS SHOWS NET LOSS

Fred Searls Jr., president of the Empire Star Mines Company Ltd. rendering his annual report to stock holders, states that net operating loss for the mines of the company were held to $352,748.77 as compared with $262,372.47 in 1943.

"For the third consecutive year, your directors must report that your mines and mills remain closed and practically idle under the terms of War Production Board Order L-208 of November 19, 1942." Searls states. "However, under limited relief granted on August 21, 1943, a small tonnage of ore from the Grass Valley mines, derived largely from rehandling pillars and similar clean up operations, has been hoisted and milled with the result that the net operating loss has been reduced to -252,748.77.

"This may be considered as approximately the minimum annual expenditure required to maintain the Grass Valley mines dry and in sufficient repair to permit reasonably prompt resumption of production. It by no means covers the total loss, mounting yearly, occasioned by deterioration of timber and state of general repair of the many miles of the more remote drifts and stopes not involved in the main access workings.

"The Zeibright and Brown's Valley mines are still flooded and call for current expenditure of only a few thousand dollars per year, included in the above total operating loss."

The balance sheet of the company included in the report, shows current assets of $1,970,519.79, marketable securities of $1,633,124.99, and total property values of $4,939,486.22.

CAPT. TITCOMB ENGINEER DIES IN LUZON BATTLE

News of the death of Capt. John A. Titcomb, U. S. Marine Corps, has been received in Grass Valley by Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Foote of North Star House, from their daughter, Mrs. Janet Titcomb wife of Capt. Titcomb.

The marine captain died of wounds received on Luzon, while in action as a radar specialist for the Marine Corps, on March 1st.

Mrs. Titcomb and children, Marion aged 2 and Peter, aged 10 months are at present living with her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Titcomb at Farmington, Maine.

The couple were married in Grass Valley in February 1940, while Titcomb was employed here as an engineer for the Newmont Mining Co. He was a graduate of Dartmouth University and took postgraduate work in engineering in Yale University. On graduation he came to Grass Valley to join the engineering staff of the Murchie and Zeibright Mines.

Titcomb enlisted early in the war in the marines. Last summer he took a special course in radar in Boston College and went overseas in November as a lieutenant. He was soon promoted to a captaincy.

S. F. TO ERECT BUILDING FOR U S SAILORS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29—Two new developments in the Port of San Francisco—one immediate—one post war, have been announced by the State Board of Harbor Commissioners.

For greater convenience of the 25,000 navy men who go on shore leave every day, a two story island building is to be erected next door to San Francisco's historic Ferry building with a bridge connecting the two structures.

Three ferry slips south of the Ferry building will be cleared for the purpose. The new building will be surrounded on its first floor by 14 landing floats and will be equipped with waiting rooms, a dispatching office, a telephone room, and other facilities. Construction will begin as soon as the go-ahead signal comes from Washington. When finished the building will be leased to the navy.

Immediately after the war the ferry slips at the foot of Hyde street near the famed Fishermen's wharf will be torn down and $750,000 quarters and berths will be erected for the wholesale fishing industry.

The State Board of Harbor Commissioners has between three and four million dollars earmarked for improvements in the port after the war. Among the plans are better berths for ocean going liners and provisions for at least 300 more small purse seiners.

MARNE DIVISION PILES UP 190 DAYS OF COMBAT

With the Third Division of the Seventh Army in France—Men of the Third Infantry Division, who've covered a lot of miles and killed a lot of Germans in 29 months of campaigning, feel they've earned a niche in modern military history with their record of 190 consecutive days of combat against the enemy in France—from the beaches of the Riveria to the banks of the Rhine River.

When a French division completed relief of doughboys of the Third near Neuf Brisach after the Colmar pocket had been wiped out, it marked the first time since D-day in Southern France, August 15, that the famous "Marne" Division could close down its division war room and take a well earned respite from the war.

These 190 days were racked up the hard way—on the march. Only twice did the Third halt for any appreciable time, once before it hurdled the supposedly impregnable Vosges mountains and again when it held a 20 mile front on the Colmar perimeter prior to jumping off on the now famous Colmar operation.

During its dash up the Rhone Valley the Third sometimes advanced as much as 75 miles in 24 hours, and when it spearheaded the drive across the Vosges a mountain range never before in military history had been crossed it broke the back of German resistance in Alsace.

In gratitude for the Third's part in liberating Alsace, the French government gave the division the coveted Croix de Guerre fourragere, the equivalent of two presidential Unit Citations, and the first such award of World War II.

There are many "firsts" in the Third's history. For instance fighting men of the division have won 21 congressional Medals of Honor, more than three times as many as any other division in the U. S. Army. And many more are on the way.

The Third has participated in seven separate campaigns, more than any division in the ETO. It has hit the beaches on four D-days, French Morocco, Sicily, Anzio and Southern France—another first. Other campaigns are Tunisia, Southern Italy and Germany.

The list of towns captured by the Third alone or in company with other divisions since the European conflict opened November 8, 1942, reads like a Fitzpatrick travelogue—Casablanca, Palermo, Messina, Cisterna, Rome, St. Tropez, Aix en Provence, Montelimar, Besacon, Vesoul, St. Die, Saales, Strasbough, Colmar.

Men of the Third—with their seven separate presidential unit Citations are proud of their division because they know it's a damn fine division. It had to be good to stay in the line for 190 days without a letup. That record hangs high for other divisions to shoot at.

A HELPING HAND

Many soldiers taking a pass and spending it in San Francisco have returned with the sad, sad story that they were unable to find a place to sleep and eventnally wound up in a bus depot or a hotel lobby along with dozens of other men in the service.

Last weekend we had an opportunity to make a trip to San Francisco and not having reservation in advance thought we'd most likely wind up down the peninsula at some tourist camp. But —fortunately, a friend of ours had heard of a bureau called War Housing at 50 Post Street which had been set up to assist service men and their wives in finding accommodations around the city.

A little skeptically we drove down to 50 Post Street and went in. There we found an MP, an SP and a very pleasant gentleman—all three anxious to help us. Stating our difficulty the gentleman at the desk got busy on the phone and it wasn't ten minutes from the time we entered the building until we had our rooms in one of San Francisco's finest hotels at a price that would fit any serviceman's pocketbook.

If you get stuck in San Francisco without a place to stay just drop in at War Housing on 50 Post Street and we'll bet you get service with a smile.—Merced Army Air Field "Pilot-Reporter."

SPRING CLEANING

in well ordered homes, calls not only for that season of thorough scrubbing that every room in the house receives but also for cleaning the winter suits, overcoats and cloaks, before hanging them away for the next winter. Moths seldom attack clothes that are spotlessly clean. Let us take this burden off your shoulders and see how much easier the rest of the job is.

OLE RONNINGEN FATHER OF TEN SUCCUMBS

Ole Ronningen, 49, a native of Norway, died Monday of a gun shot wound in the head. Coroner Alvah Hooper has not determined whether death was due to suicide or accident.

Ronningen who lived on Deer Creek just outside the city limits, took a 22 rifle belonging to one of his sons and went for a hunt along the steep hillside bordering the creek. Ordinarily Ronningen did little hunting, and immediately his wife learned of his leaving the house with a gun, she sent one of her sons Hans, after him. When the boy arrived the fatal shot had already been fired. Dr. B. W. Hummelt was summoned. Ronningen was still alive but died while being taken back to the house.

Because of the steep terrain, covered with brush, the coroner believes the shot may have been accidental. There were but few powder burns above the wound over the right ear.

Ronningen, his wife and children came out from South Dakota ten years ago. He was employed for some years in the Lava Cap mine. Since the war he has engaged in blacksmith work. Besides his wife, Mrs. Signe Ronningen, the children bereaved are:

They are Sverre O. Ronningen, Aleutians; Melvin Ronningen, Germany; Norman J. Ronningen, Philippines; Howard L. Ronningen, U. S. Navy; In Nevada City are the following children. Roy, Ole L., Kenneth, Arlene M., Hans E., and Sonjo O. Ronningen.

Holmes Funeral Home will have charge of the obsequies.

Bert Loses the War Single-Handed

Bert Childer's house burned down last week, and the only good thing that came out of it was it cured him of swearing. Bert just couldn't think of words to fit the occasion, so he just gave up.

Bert admits it was his own fault. Started with a field fire which he thought he had under control, and when he turned his back a minute for a breathing spell, the fire sprung up twice as fierce. By the time the firemen arrived, there wasn't much that they could do.

From where I sit, there's a moral in Bert's experience. A lot of us feel we've got the fires of this war under control . . . that we can relax a little, maybe let up on buying bonds, donating blood, or fighting inflation.

Just like Bert lost his fight against the fire, we can lose this fight against our enemy if we let down now. Because war, like fire, is never over till the last spark is extinguished.

Handle with care!

We thought you would be interested in knowing of the care our returning wounded receive on hospital trains.

This is the procedure. We are asked by the Army or Navy to make up a hospital train with various types of cars. We assemble the cars, sometimes from distant points. The cars are inspected, thoroughly cleaned and pre-heated.

The train is then moved to the hospital receiving station where the wounded are carefully taken aboard.

When the train pulls out, a Train Commander—a commissioned medical officer—is in charge. To assist him, we assign an experienced railroad representative to accompany the train. On board, too, are Army or Navy nurses and enlisted medical corpsmen who expertly care for the wounded, night and day.

En route, the engineers, firemen, conductors, brakemen—all the trainmen—are thinking of every man aboard. They know that sudden starts and stops can cause discomfort to the wounded. That is why they try to handle these hospital trains extra gently.

Dispatchers all along the line make every effort to keep hospital trains rolling with the fewest possible stops.

Schedules are worked out in advance. On movements where some of the wounded are assigned to different hospitals, a car or cars will be detached at junction points. These cars will then be attached to regular trains for movement to other hospitals.

Southern Pacific is keenly aware of its great responsibility in moving the wounded. Every skill is brought into play to operate hospital trains smoothly, efficiently and on time.

These are Southern Pacific's most important trains.

* * * * * *

Many of the less critically wounded travel on our regular trains. So if you find it difficult to secure a Pullman reservation, even for essential travel, it may be because some wounded man is occupying the space that otherwise might have been given to you. We know you'll agree these reservations are more urgent than yours.

WITH OUR BOYS AND GIRLS IN GLOBAL WAR

A. C. Fox—

Mrs. C. E. Bosworth received a message sating her nephew Lt. Com. A. C. Fox had had a complete collapse in the South Pacific and was now in a hospital in Bremmerton, Wash. He has been in the U. S. navy since 1933 and suffered a breakdown before but was returned to service recently. He was on the U. S. S. Saratoga in charge of all radio men on shipboard and censor of mail. Fox visited his aunt and uncle here on different occasions.

Don Bosworth—

Don Bosworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bosworth of Gold Flat wrote on March 10th that he had seen Verle Gray, who was employed by Dons parents in their store in this city. Verle is driving truck in the U. S. Engineers and hunted Don up, as they were near each other. Don as battalion officer was supposed to be in a rest zone recovering from frost bitten toes, but was getting out equipment for his battalion as fast as possible. All men are frantic to get home and are working night and day to get the war over as fast as possible. Don and his group had a big jump the day before the first since he recovered from his broken ankle and came through in fine shape. Don also said that when he gets back nothing will ever pull him out of Nevada City and Grass Valley.

Gordon Leary—

Latest letters received from Pfc. Gordon Leary by his wife in Nevada City state he is in a rest zone in Italy and getting along alright. He has been overseas a year and was reported missing in action last July, later his wife received word he was safe. His wife is the former Catherine Stephens of Boulder street and she is living with her parents until his return.

Philip Joyal—

Friends in Nevada City have received a letter from Lt. Philip Joyal who is on active duty in the Philippines fighting the Nips. He is in the U. S. Air Forces and in his travels has seen the borderline of China. Philip Joyal attended the local schools and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Joyal who are now engaged in war work in the bay district.

Roy Granholm—

In a letter written March 14 from Italy Roy Granholm stated he was writing to tell his mother he was off the front lines now for awhile. "Our training starts tomorrow for the rest of the time we are here." he wrote. "It sure has been nice weather the last month, just like spring. With the melting of the snow the white horses and mules have been dyed brown to blend in with the landscape. I am sending a book home about the "Blue Devils", that means us. I haven't much to write about. It has been a long time since I have written you too. I am getting along fine and am feeling fine. Will write again in a couple of days. I am sending a few clippings for your scrap book. One of the boys wrote this one it it fits me exactly too. The author is Pvt. Isaac L. Richardson, U. S. Infantry.

MY TOWN

Like a diamond in the rough
In a setting by the sea
My town is just a-waiting,
Just a-waiting there for me.
Wild flowers and the bee
Are a-waving and a-calling
Just a-waiting there for me
And the rabbits, getting frisky
And the squirrels in the tree,
Are a-hiding and a-sleeping,
Just a-waiting there for me.
And the folks are in the parlor,
While the hours seem to flee,
They're a-talking and a-laughing
Just a-waiting there for me.
The church bells are a-ringing,
And the pastor's on his knee,
A-singing and a-praying
Just a-waiting there for me.
And the skies will soon be clearing
And the world will all be free.
And I will come a-running
When they're a-waiting so for me.

A correlative citation from the Christian Science textbook. "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy reads: "Truth is affirmative and confers harmony. All metaphysical logic is inspired by this simple rule of truth, which governs all readity, p. 418.

Snow Measured In High Sierras This Week

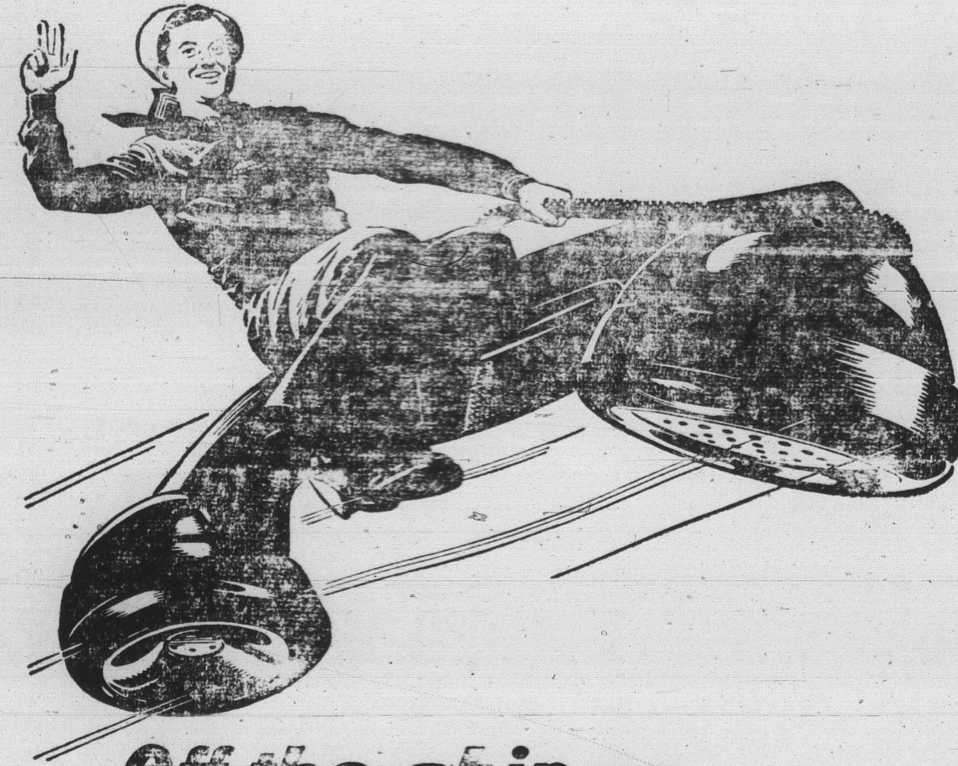
Ranger Warren Barnes of the Bloomfield district, Tahoe national forest, reports that the annual spring snow survey to French Meadows, on the Middle Fork of the American River, will be made this week.

The survey party will consist of Ranger Barnes of Nevada City, Ranger Joe Ely of Forest Hill, Fire Control Assistant Clarence Martz of Forest Hill and Central Dispatcher Gardon Vance of Nevada City.

The trip is considered one of the most difficult in California. Starting from Soda Springs, the party will proceed by way of The Cedars and Wabena Creek to French Meadows where they will stay over at a cabin at Talbot Camp.

Depth of snow will be measured at six defferent locations in route. From these measurements the yearly forecast of spring run-off will be made by the State Division of Water Resources.

Although the snow pack was slightly below normal for March 1, recent storms this month should have brought it to normal or above, adds Barnes.



Off the ship— and on the telephone

This evening, thousands of service men will be asking for the Long Distance lines that connect them with their homes all over America.

You'll be doing them a real favor if you help keep the lines open from 7 to 10 P. M. They'll appreciate it.

KATE SMITH asked to write this message on Saving Used Fats!

"The help of every woman is needed in saving used fats for hundreds of battlefield and home-front essentials. But some of us don't know all the ways we can do it. Here are a few points I've found helpful."—Kate Smith

MANY WOMEN SAY: "But I never have fats left over." Certainly it's good economy to re-use your fats... but there's always some left over even after that...and that little is more important than you can imagine. Only one tablespoonful of used fat will help make 5 machine-gun bullets. So there just can't ever be too little to save! Come on, everybody, scrape your broiling pan, your roaster, skillet. Save meat trimmings and scraps of fat left on plates.

OTHERS TELL ME: "But my fats are often too dark to turn in." It doesn't make a mite of difference how dark or blackened ...or what smelly things like onion or fish you've cooked in your fat. Every drop of it will help make parachutes, synthetic rubber, soaps for the fighting and war fronts. Don't feel ashamed to hand it in to your butcher. If you save every bit of fat you possibly can, you're doing a job to be proud of!

THEN YOU HEAR: "But what sort of container will I use?" Any kind of tin can will do. The next time you open a can of fruit or juice or soup or vegetables, save it. But please don't use glass ...it almost always breaks and makes the fat difficult to salvage. When the can is full, take it to your butcher. For every pound, you'll get 2 red points. If you have any difficulty disposing of your fats, call your Home Demonstration or County Agent.

PATROLMEN TO CHECK BRAKES

SACRAMENTO, March 29 — All members of the California Highway Patrol will cooperate in a nation wide brake emphasis program beginning April 15 and ending June 1, Chief E. R. Cato announced today.

The program sponsored by the International Association of Chiefs of Police, will focus attention of motorists on the importance to traffic safety of good brakes and good car condition. Chief Cato has been named coordinator of the program for California and will seek the assistance of all chiefs of police, sheriffs and other peace officers to make the program effective.

During the period of the program highway patrolmen and other police officers stopping a passenger car for any infraction of highway rules will take an additional sixty seconds to check the car's brakes, Cato said.

He explained that all officers will be provided with a small precision engineered wooden block which may be placed under the brake pedal. If the brake when depressed touches this wooden block, Cato said, it is engineering proof that the brakes will not stop the car in the number of feet required by California to prevent an accident.

Warning tickets and educational pamphlets will be given to owners of all vehicles failing to meet the tests but actual arrest citations will be issued only when further checks establish that the brakes are in need of repair.

Chief Cato said the program has the backing of all national and state safety groups and has been designed as one means of conserving the "rapidly dwindling of motor vehicles.

The slogan of the program will be: "You're Only a Foot from Trouble —Check Your Brakes."
